GRAND OUTLOOK FOR 1916

WHOLESALE IMPORTATIONS EXPECTED TO GREATLY HELP RACING IN THE EAST.

Coming Season to Bring Clash Between Pick of American-Bred Juveniles and Choice Yearlings Recently Brought from Abroad.

[By Ed Cole.]

New York, December 7.—No better indication could be offered of the increased attention paid to the thoroughbred and horse racing than the extraordinary number of horses that have been entered for the stakes to be run at Saratoga and Belmont Park the coming year. Never in the history of old Saratoga have the nominations been as great as they are now, and the same is true of Belmont Park. They are simply phenomenal," said Secretary Earle, as he folded up his reams of typewritten copy of names, breeding and owners of the horses made eligible to contest for the rich Saratoga stakes. "Of course, this great influx is partly due to the English and French thoroughbreds which have been imported. Many of them have been entered in the two-year-old stakes. Owners have nominated lavishly, trusting to luck that they will get some returns for the money invested."

Buying two-year-olds is something of a lottery. The most promising will frequently turn out poorly. Before education all one knows about a yearling comes from its promising looks and breeding, and a person who has bought a half dozen of what he considers choice stock abroad will enter them in almost any race where the conditions fit. As an owner put it, "We are taking as many chances at a big prize as we can, and that is the reason I have entered every youngster I have."

Looking over the list of eligibles for the Hopeful, of which there are nearly 150, not only are there many entries of foreign breeding, but the names of owners appear who have not hitherto been interested in turf affairs. This is a good sign of the coming prosperity of the turf. Men of high standing socially and of influence are much desired to replace those who retired through the crusade of five years ago. Some of the latter are returning to the sport, too. Men like A. K. Macomber, Price McKinnin, James Corrihan, W. R. Cox and Oscar Lewisohn, together with others of more or less importance, will add greatly to the prestige of the turf.

In speaking of the season of 1916, Phil J. Dwyer predicts a great change for the better, not only on account of the international interest but because racing is at last being recognized as the greatest of sports and something which should be fostered. "There will not only be local rivalry next year," said the president of the Brooklyn and Aqueduct tracks, "but the foreign interest will infuse still greater enthusiasm into the sport. It will really be the first time in this country that a partially true line can be gotten on the relative ability of the European and American thoroughbreds. With upwards of one hundred English and French two-year-olds racing against those of our own breeding, there cannot help but be increased interest in the sport. I only hope we shall have some good horses among the home-bred stock, so that we can take a fair crack at the imported youngsters, some of which will surely come out good. Now is the time that New York tracks ought to be giving the richest purses and stakes in the country, but with no revenue coming from speculative sources we have to depend upon the gate receipts only, and they are only a trifle more than sufficient to cover expenses. But we are having racing, and that is something, and some day we may be able to give as rich stakes and purses as we did years ago."

In the course of conversation, Mr. Dwyer said he did not anticipate opening the Brooklyn track the coming year, if ever again, though the growing sentiment in favor of racing might bring about all sorts of things. At present there are four local tracks which will be operated next season—Belmont Park, Aqueduct and Empire City. They will be sufficient to provide all the sport necessary to appease the New York appetite, especially as Saratoga fills in the month of August.

Getting back to the two-year-old question, it is twenty-three or twenty-four years since there was an invasion of English horses. Then they were brought here by Lord North, known as the "nitrate king," after the late Tom Ochiltree had used his persuasive powers on his lordship. While the horses were what could be termed a fair lot, they were not the top-notchers of England nor the choices of American buyers, as some of those recently imported are. It is to be hoped there will be at least one or two good horses developed from each country represented the coming year. This will increase the interest, for if there is but one good one comparative to Sysonby, Colin, Polymelus or Sceptre, much of the contestant interest will be taken away, though there will still remain the interest which always develops. Whichever way one looks at the future, prospects are bright.

It is hinted that the Jockey Club may offer suggestions to the associations conducting racing under its jurisdiction which will bring about changes in selling race practices. It may even pass rules that will partially close the doors against what can be termed "horse traders." Something is being considered by the Jockey Club directors, but it is doubtful if the rule concerning the disposition of surplus run-up money will be changed, as associations can do as they please with their own funds.

There is only a remote chance that the new two-year-old rule suggested by Captain E. B. Cassatt will be defeated when it comes before the stewards of the Jockey Club. The delegates to the conference to consider the matter—Messrs. August Belmont, J. N. Camden and W. P. Fraser, representing the east, Kentucky and Canada respectively—have consulted and decided that the thoroughbred would be benefited by abolishing the early racing of young horses. That no two-year-old shall be raced before May 15 is the contention, and from all accounts it is now only a question whether the date is agreeable to all three organizations. Some believe May 1 should be the date set, while others go even further and assert that if the date was set a month later it would have a better effect. In any event, it is almost assured that two-year-olds will not race in 1917 until May.

CANADIAN MARES GO INTO STUD.

Montreal, Que., December 7.—Suivez Moi and Bacchante, two Canadian-bred mares, have been shipped to Baltimore by trainer Allan Bulcroft. The mares, bred and raced by Sir R. Forget, have ended their racing careers and will be mated with some of the stallions standing in the stud at the farm of G. R. Tompkins in Virginia, who bought the mares and left them in Canada since the autumn meetings here.

Planover, winner of the King's Plate at Blue Bonnets in 1913, has been mated to the famous stallion Broomstick, and the mating should produce a King's Plate for the province of Quebec that will be hard to beat. Planover holds the King's Plate record.

ROYAL ASCOT'S "GOOD OLD DAYS."

Even today, when life is so differently arranged and so obviously changed, there is no race meeting in the world that makes such an irresistible appeal as Royal Ascot—delightful, brilliant Ascot, though in these times it is hedged round with police precautions and regulations of a most extraordinary and elaborate kind. Ascot, as always, introduces us to the best of all racing; the greatest thoroughbreds in training are to be seen there, the richest prizes are to be won, and, as a society function, it has no counterpart.

EARNINGS OF THE STABLE RACED BY ONE OF NEW YORK'S MOST POPULAR TURFMEN

Mr. R. T. Wilson's stable fell short of its 1914 record in the matter of money won. That year, racing as the Montpelier Stable, it won a total of $49,630. However, in the consideration of the fact that he was not in possession of an especially brilliant racer, it must be said that the stable fared quite well. The two year-olds, Montresor and Tartar, were its chief money gainers and not far apart in their respective earnings. In Ormesdale Mr. Wilson raced two-year-olds, in a year when competition for supremacy among horses of that age seems destined to be of the most strenuous and uncertain character. Amaldi, Tralee and Hester Prynn were something more than useful contributors to the expense department of the stable, and its record for 1915 was:

It often has been said that the Ascot week is more of a society function than a racing event of unequalled importance. It is not. The racing comes before everything else; it always did; it must always do, for the reason that the best horses are to be seen in opposition. And it is wrong to attempt to strike a comparison between Ascot and Epsom on Derby Day. The two have little in common, save that they stand out as the events of the racing season. Derby Day tells of a national holiday; it has wedded itself to all classes; it is a mighty institution, if I may say so, in that it allows of a gigantic picnic, wholly different from Ascot, for on the royal heath we see the best possible racing under the best possible conditions for four days; we get a long series of big races there, and no man who is enamored of the sport would miss Ascot.

When one looks back, Ascot, one is bound to say, has shed much of its romance and much of its tragic side, too. There was a time when Ascot and fortunes won and lost were synonymous terms. It used to bring bulging purses, or something near, to the winners. The man who did not bet hard at Ascot was out of fashion, a strange person indeed. The future of vast estates used to depend upon Ascot; a wild, headlong plunge Ascot meant to the rich young men in other days. To set out determined that it should be all or nothing was the proper thing to do; nothing mattered, a fortune made or a fortune lost meant very much the same thing.

It is on record that in Ormesdale's year a certain noble lord offered to lay $900,000 to $300,000, and that if Admiral Rous had not stepped in the wager would have been made. I have before me a steel engraving of the late Sir John Astley, "The Duke of Devonshire," "Fifty Years of My Life in the World of Sport at Home and Abroad" is a wonderful piece of philosophy.

The inscription under it reads: "Clean broke; thinking it out." It is a striking and fascinating picture, representing Sir John with a far-off, dreamy, puzzled look, with his hands deep in pockets obviously near smoking furs, and a cigar in his mouth, sharpening up his wits in readiness for settling day. It was in his day that "the young bloods" burned holes, so to speak, in Ascot week and lopped off great slices of their fortunes, if they were not irretrievably ruined. That was the time when bookmakers did not speak of these bad times. I always remember the bookmaker in Ascot's time, who, in his day, was something different from the modern pence. Then he was more of a whole hogger; like "my lord," he would bet to any amount. As some one put it, he was not forever "hedging and ditching"; he took his chances, whatever they might be. He had more character about him; "Am dead broke," he would say, "but I am thousands, and whether settling day was likely to be good or bad he looked forward to it without wincing."

And about betting, let me give a little quotation from Sir John Astley's book. Writing in the early eighties after many amazing ups and downs, he says: "Now we appear the end of my racing career; at all events, my owning horses, betting 'monkeys.' I hardly bet this year till Ascot, and though I won some $30,000 between this and the end of the season, I was fairly settled, and in my betting ledger, which I kept carefully up to December, 1883, I see the following somewhat peculiar note: 'Am dead broke; shall have to live entirely on my own means for the first three years I bet only in small sums, but lost each year half my (then) small income. I had, of course, to borrow money to pay my way. This I did legitimately by insuring my life at three and a half per cent. and borrowing money on the policy at five—i. e., I had to pay $400 a year for every thousand. I borrowed, as my income decreased, I thought advisable to increase my investments, and at one time my luck seemed to turn, as I began winning handsomely. For instance, in 1882 I won $55,000; in 1883, though I won $50,000 in the Sussex fortnight, I only won $30,000 on the year; so you may judge I was fairly on the job. When I won I ought, of course, to have stored the chips for a rainy day, but I was goose enough to spend it, and when I lost I had to borrow. Voila tout. The wonder is not that I got broke, but how I lasted so long as I did—viz., twenty-five years."

That Sir John was rich in philosophy is clear when, despite the fact that he had dissipated his fortune, he was able to write in the following strains: "You, my readers, may have noticed that sudden changes of this sort affect some men differently. Some hibernate the year round, like the grizzly bear and the dormouse do in winter; others turn into fossils, and are seen no more by their contemporaries; others take an inordinate amount of alcohol, which promptly lands them in the cremating pot; some doze away their existence in foreign parts; while some glorious examples may be found who, made of sterner stuff, attempt to increase their pensions by their wits, and though not suited for the 'lofty calling' of authors, become authors! I ain't the bear or the dormouse, nor the fossil, nor the alcoholic sponge, nor the gourmand who lives on frogs and marrows far away from his native land; I am dead broke, the elevated and may I add, the 'instructive author,' who hopes by his confessions to dissuade young men from getting into debt and then trying to get clear by gambling."

Heavy and even reckless betting still goes on, but nothing like to the same extent as in Sir John Astley's time. There are, and will always be, I suppose, many what I may call freak bets, such as one I saw made some two years ago—$5,000 to $5, and lost. There are, of course, men who still bet in thousands, but they are few in number. As most people know, one of the greatest gamblers was the Marquis of Hastings, who lost $500,000 over Hermit's Derby, and then went on to Ascot to win $350,000.

Gambling in all manner of form will, of course, go on for all time, but gambling in such fabulous sums as in the "old days" at Ascot will not occur again, I think. And we are all glad to feel that a great and permanent change of this kind has come about. That huge sums will be won and lost at Ascot I have no doubt, but the day when young men betted away their estates has gone, I hope, for ever.—London Telegraph.

NEXT YEAR'S FUTURITY CANDIDATES.

New York, December 7.—Of the 528 original entries received for next year's Futurity, 140, or a trifle more than 35 per cent., are eligible. Forty-two sires are represented by the eligibles, with the English-bred son of Isinglass and Astronomy, Star Shoot, leading the list with twenty-seven representatives. Gifford A. Cochran and John E. Madden are represented by eleven fillies and eleven colts respectively by this great stallion, while James Butler, H. H. Hewitt, H. K. Knapp, John Sanford and R. T. Wilson have each nominated one. Ballot, the son of Voter, recently acquired by T. C. McDowell for Charles Berryman at the Haggin sale for $15,000, finds representation through entry by numerous owners in the number of seventeen, while Parker Whitney is next on the list with nine sons and daughters of Von Tromp, eight of which have been vested with names of places adjacent to New York city. Ira Kuykendal has named eight colts and fillies by Interpose, and Voter and All Gold stand next on the list with seven each, the sons Harry Payne Whitney, among which is a colt by Jersey Lightning, the dam, C. Regret, Thunder and other good ones. Mr. Whitney has made the greatest number of nominations with seventeen, and, aside from the All Gold colts and fillies, he will be represented by sons and daughters of Broomstick, Hamburg, Burgomaster and Cygand, Capt. E. B. Cassatt shows five by Aeronaut, one of which, out of Netta, is aptly named Regible. The rest of the quintet take their names from the dam, with Buckboard, out of Betty Bonner; County Court, out of Litigant; Cachet, out of Princess Chic, and Odds and Ends, a filly out of Trash. August Belmont is represented by a half dozen colts by Trap Rock, Hastings and Disguise, all of which have been named. The Wicklife Stable has nominated ten, in which Voter, Sweep, Superman, Disguise and Ben Brush are the sires. Ben Brush, Wilson nominates four by Olambala and one by Star Shoot, while Andrew Miller, with two, shows a particularly well-bred colt by Ballot—May Hempstead. Among the Cochran eligibles is a colt by Cicerone, Quair, the sire being a Derby winner in 1905. Harry Payne Whitney named a colt by Le Roi Soleil, which was prominent in French racing in the late nineties, with the Grand Prix de Paris as one of his great successes. The following statement shows the sires represented and the number of colts and fillies by each: Star Shoot, 27; All Gold, 7; Aeronaut, 6; Trap Rock, 6; Olambala, 4; Celi, 4; Ogden, 3; Disguise, 3; Superman, 3; Peter Quince, 3; Hastings, 2; Cunard, 2; Ben Brush, 2; Jesse James, 2; Meelick, 2; Sweep, 2; McGee, 2; while Helmet, Bassettlaw, Dalhousie, Luck and Charley, Duval, Masetto, Martinet, Sain, Ormesdale, O'Day, Burgomaster, Cygand, Le Roi Soleil and Cherry Pit show one each.

GOSSIPY ITEMS FROM NEW YORK.

New York, December 7.—Emil Herz has a string of thirteen horses at New Orleans and will leave for there December 26.—Jockey J. Butwell will ride for him when he can do the weight. Jockey Buxton is visiting relatives in Minneapolis. He will leave there for Havana in time for the opening of the meeting. Frank J. Bryan returned from the annual meeting of the Maryland Jockey Club today. "The recent meeting was the most successful in the history of Pimlico," said Mr. Bryan. Secretary W. P. Riggs will have a statement ready for publication in a few days, as is customary every year. Luke Cassidy, who is gathering up horses for Tia Juana, sent four carloads from Bowie and Benning. Mr. Cassidy says there is already 150 horses promised from owners who raced through Nevada and California last summer.

INCREASE IN ENGLISH RACE ENTRIES.

The small entries for the Two Thousand and One Thousand of 1917 are noted with regret by a London turf writer. On the other hand, the nominations for some other races have happily increased. The Granby Plate at the Craven meeting to seventy-three, as against fifty-seven; the First Spring Stakes to seventy-seven, against fifty-six; the Exeter Stakes to fifty-one, against thirty-two; the Hopeful Stakes to fifty-two, against forty-two; the Cheveley Stakes to eighty-six, against sixty-seven; the Prendergast Stakes to fifty-two, against forty-eight; the Moulton Stakes to seventy-two, against sixty-three, and the Houghton Stakes to sixty-three, against forty.

RAIN COMES TO JUAREZ

GOING IS RENDERED SLOW, BUT PLEASANT WEATHER ARRIVES BY RACING TIME.

Thelma Marie Improves and Takes the Dash for Two-Year-Olds—Theresa Bethel Wins in a Canter—Fairly in Front.

El Paso, Texas, December 7.—The clear, sunny weather, which has prevailed since the opening of the Juarez meeting, gave way to showers last night and, as a result, the track was slow for today's racing. The skies cleared before post time, however, and pleasant weather prevailed during the afternoon.

The most attractive race of the day, a handicap for all-aged horses at seven-eighths, went to So-lus, well served by the soft track. He was out-paced in the early running, but, finishing with great speed, got up to wrest the purse from Curlicue in a hard final drive. Wilhite was backed into odds-on favoritism for the race and tired so badly after racing in forward contention in the early part of the race that he was all but last at the finish.

Brooks was regarded with the greatest favor for the two-year-old dash, with which the racing began, but the finish found him third. S. M. Henderson's filly Thelma Marie, showing smart improvement over her previous races here, ran away from her opposition at the end, after having led throughout, and Lola was in second place.

Theresa Bethel made a show of those to which she was opposed in the second race. She dashed to the front with the rise of the barrier and setting the pace all the way, had a lead of six lengths at the end over Brighthouse, the well-supported first choice.

A well-backed horse won when Fairly came from behind in the third and dashed past the pacemakers to an easy victory, with Petit Bleu in closest attendance. Lady Young and Francis, the choices of the race, were unplaced after showing a good order of early speed.

It was not until the closing race that a favorite secured. Then Hard Ball came to the relief of the talent.

The track, while in good condition on top, was wet under the surface, as the result of the rain. See Williams, a well-known bookmaker's clerk, who has been suffering with consumption for several years, started on Sunday for his home at Shreveport, La., but died on the train at Big Springs, Tex. His remains will be forwarded.

CURRENT NOTES OF THE TURF.

Ed L. Wenrick, dealer in horse books and pictures, has moved from New York city to a farm near Mechanicsburg, Pa.

August Belmont will race one foreign-bred two-year-old next year. It has been named Hourless and is a colt by Negrol—Hour Glass II.

Mose Goldblatt has made a speedy recovery from the attack of pneumonia with which he was recently stricken at Juarez and is out and about once more.

Matt Dooley has shipped three fillies from New York to W. S. Kilmer's farm at Binghamton. Mr. Kilmer is one of the recent additions to the list of thoroughbred owners.

Harry Payne Whitney's only foreign-bred representative in the recently closed Belmont Park and Saratoga two-year-old stakes for next season is a brown gelding by Wiltonyx—Petticoat.

T. A. Clark, of Collington, Md., a newcomer to the turf, has two imported yearlings in Pastora, a bay daughter of Strophon—Aile d'Or, and La Belle Adventure, a bay daughter of Ajax and Madcap.

A division of the great racing establishment of Harry Payne Whitney has arrived at Churchill Downs. The string, in charge of trainer Albert Simons, will be wintered at the Downs and trained there for the 1916 campaign. The Whitney colors will be seen in the big stakes there next spring. Trainer Simons has a fine brigade of coming two-year-olds which appear to include splendid candidates for 1916 juvenile honors.

FREDERICK JOHNSON'S IMPORTED HORSES.

New York, December 7.—Frederick Johnson will send to the races next year a strong string of foreign-bred two-year-olds selected abroad by as good a judge as Charles Patterson, the man who developed Ornament and many another good horse. Those that have been engaged in eastern stakes thus far are:

All Star, ch. c. by Sunstar—Falling Star. Bachelor's Hope, ch. c. by Tredennis—Ladytown. Greek Legend, b. c. by Polymelus—Evanne. Omar Khayyam, ch. c. by Marco—Lisma. Pleasant Dreams, ch. f. by Trap Rock—Privateer. Royal Writ, ch. c. by Roi Herode—Alphabet. Spear Lance, b. c. by Spearmin—Shoot. Words of Wisdom, b. c. by Cicerone—Gellonette. Bay colt by Santry—Lilydale. Chestnut colt by Roquelaur—Prude.

W. R. Coe, who has raced heretofore under the name of the Shoshone Stable, but who will use his own name in 1916, is one of the extensive importers who has brought over horses purely for sport and breeding purposes. He has eight that have been nominated for every race of importance for which they are eligible. They include Jack Mount, a bay colt by Amadis—Catana, and the following seven for which names have not yet been registered: Bay colt by Royal Realm—Red Heart's Pride, bay colt by Lemberg—Roman Matron, chestnut colt by Cicerone—Lambrosa, chestnut colt by Aquascentum—Adalia, chestnut colt by Polymelus—Pacolina, chestnut filly by Fairman—Zeiff and black filly by White Eagle—Imperatrix.

GOVERNMENT VIEWS NOT DISCLOSED.

It will not be surprising if the tax paid by race courses in Ontario, which now amounts to $42,000 a year, is considerably increased when the provincial treasurer reports his budget to the legislature early in the coming year. We are all paying new taxes, and increased old levies to the federal government. Their needs have not been lessened, and treasurers must cast about for sources of increased revenue. Race courses and their operations are certain to be among these, but the story of a twenty per cent. tax on their gross income, to be collected from seven tracks in Ontario, provokes the merriment of an Ottawa paper. It is pointed out that there are not seven tracks in Ontario, that Connaught Park is not one of them, and there are no new tracks building in this province. Apart from these things, it is admitted that there may be something in the story. The fact is that nobody knows the intentions of the government in the matter of the means to be taken to increase the provincial revenues, and one gesser is as good as the other until the right time comes.—Francis Nelson in Toronto Globe.

NEW RULES FOR NEW ORLEANS RACING.

New Orleans, La., December 7.—The Dominion of Canada was well represented in arrivals of racing stables at the Fair Grounds since Saturday, which included those of J. Lumsden of Ottawa, a newcomer to the ranks of owners. He is an exceedingly wealthy man and is taking a keen interest in racing affairs.

Other arrivals included the horses of William Walker, J. C. Yeager, William Woodard, W. V. Walsh, R. E. Watkins, O. E. Pons, Fred Foster, F. M. Sheedy, W. Cahill, L. F. Piper, J. Brown, S. P. Fine, M. C. Keller, R. Colston, P. Sheridan, S. R. Howser, J. MacManus, A. R. Bresier and F. Musante.

A new rule relative to the bidding up of selling-race winners will be put into effect at the Fair Grounds, beginning with the opening of the racing season. Instead of offering the winner by auction immediately after the race, sealed bids accompanied by the amount bid, will be taken by the clerk of the scales until a few minutes after the finish of the race. In the event of a bid being made, the owner will be notified of the amount bid and he will have the privilege of advancing it by $5 to retain his horse.

Judge Murphy will also recommend to the executive committee that they establish a rule, whereby all of the excess over the original entered price of a horse, shall be placed in a general fund for emergency purposes. This will abolish the old system of the owner, whose horse finished second, getting fifty per cent of the run-up proceeds and the association the remainder. The fund is intended for general purposes in time of distress. "The hand of providence strikes heavily and swiftly at times," said Judge Murphy yesterday. "This was shown by the recent storm. If we had a fund of $10,000 available for emergency purposes, we might do a lot of good at times. The horsemen, I feel certain, will be glad to have this system of distributing the surplus."

Jockey Butwell and several minor riding lights arrived yesterday.

Every available stall at the track is now filled and it will be necessary to build a stable to accommodate the horses that R. F. Carman is desirous of sending here.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES OF THE DAY.

"Greece is not to be forced or cajoled out of her neutrality," and will demobilize her armies rather than take sides in the European war, King Constantine declared in an interview with an Associated Press correspondent. "I am especially glad to talk for America, for America will understand Greece's position. We are both neutral and are together determined, if it is humanly possible, not to court destruction by permitting ourselves to be drawn into the frightful vortex of the present European conflict. Both are trying by every honorable means to guard our sovereignty, protect our own people and stand up for our national interest without sacrificing that neutrality which we recognize as our only salvation. America at present is protected by the distance which separates her from the battle field. We, too, thought that once. But the battle field shifted, and may shift again. What is happening in Greece today may happen in America. Holland and other neutral countries tomorrow, if the precedent now sought to be established in the case of Greece is once fixed. The fundamental cause of the entire threatening attitude of the entente powers toward Greece today and of the painful situation of my country," continued the king, "is the entente's own assumption without the slightest reason that Greece is ready to betray the entente to Germany at the first favorable opportunity. Is it reasonable to suppose such a thing? From the very outset of hostilities in the near east Greece's neutrality has been stretched to the utmost to accommodate the entente powers, for when we always have felt the keenest sympathy and the deepest gratitude. The Dardanelles operations were directed from Greek islands occupied by allied troops. When Serbia was endangered by the combined Austro-German and Bulgarian attack the allied troops landed unopposed on Greek soil, from which, with the second city of Greece, Athens, they proceeded, not only unmolested, but aided, in every way consistent with any sort of neutrality, their fruitless and too long delayed campaign to rescue their ally. Finally I myself have given my personal word that Greek troops will never be used to attack the Franco-British forces in Macedonia, merely to allay unjustified suspicions. Yet, despite all these evidences of the good faith of Greece, the entente powers now demand, in a form which is virtually an ultimatum, that the Greek troops be withdrawn from Saloniki—and that means all Macedonia—leaving our population unprotected against raids by Bulgarian comitads or all the horrors of which we have heard. They demand that the allies be driven back within our frontiers. If the entente will assure me that when they are driven back into Greek territory they will consider the Balkan game ended, re-embark, and leave Greece, I will guarantee with my whole army to protect their retreat against the Germans, Bulgarians, or anybody else, and give them time to embark without being endangered."

An Athens dispatch of yesterday says: Saloniki dispatches estimated that 120,000 Serbian troops have retreated across the Albanian frontier. Scattered forces are fighting in Montenegro, and a few Serbs remain in the extreme southwest corner of the country. Arrival of fresh Anglo-French contingents at the allied front was reported. Fierce fighting in northeastern Montenegro and a sudden assault by the Bulgarians against the right wing of the French army marked the renewal of important actions in the Balkans today. The city of Ipek, largest in eastern Montenegro, is about to fall to the Austrians, according to advices received here. After holding the enemy in check for forty-eight hours by valiant resistance the Serbs and Montenegrins are reported in retreat, assailed on their right flank by bands of Albanians. Whether the Bulgarian onslaughts against the French mark the beginning of an effort to throw the allies back to Saloniki, it is too early to determine. Lack of definite information regarding the position of Field Marshal Mackensen's main army adds to the anxiety felt in some quarters over the position of the Anglo-French forces. Mackensen, it is believed, may be preparing to hammer the expeditionary forces back across the Greek border in one mighty smash. The Bulgarian attack was preceded by violent bombardment of the French positions near Valandovo. The infantry onslaughts were launched Sunday night. The result of the fighting is in doubt. No official explanation has been received from the Roumanian's reasons for commandeering foreign shipping.

President Wilson in his annual address to congress yesterday laid down the administration plans for national defense and told his hearers it was necessary for the new and broad doctrine of Pan-America. With sharp words he arranged American citizens who by their sympathy for the foreign belligerents had endangered the neutrality of the United States. "America never witnessed anything like this before," declared the president with deep feeling. The president's outline of the plans for national defense and the need for them was received in silence by the senators and representatives, but with rapt attention. His declaration of a new Pan-American doctrine was received with the deepest interest. "We insist on security in prosecuting our self-chosen lines of national development," he said. "We do more than that. We demand it also for others. We do not confine our enthusiasm for individual liberty and free national development to the incidents and movements of affairs which affect only ourselves. We feel it wherever there is a people that tries to walk in these difficult paths of independence and fight. From the first we have made common cause with all partisans of liberty on this side of the sea, and have deemed it as important that our neighbors should be free from all outside domination as that we ourselves should be; have set America aside as a whole for the uses of independent nations and political freedom."

The official status of Henry Ford's expedition so far as Great Britain goes was made clear in the house of commons, when Lord Robert Cecil in reply to Sir E. Cornwall explained that passports for the party were valid only in neutral countries. The British authorities intend to rest only upon the attitude of the American government in refusing to give passports for a stop in England. If, after getting through with their work in Denmark and Holland, any of the peace party try to come to England the authorities will feel obliged to decline to allow them to come in. All they will have to do is to point to the fact that the passports fail to permit entry into England. Americans in London were speculating yesterday over the possibility of the Oscar II. being held up by the authorities in British waters for inquiry into her cargo. Should the Oscar II. carry contraband in her hold the authorities can run her into a harbor and hold her for a prize court. In that event Mr. Ford and his conferees will be detained at some English port until the government here decided what to with them.

Germany is making great purchases of copper, cotton, wool, lard, wheat, farm machinery and other products in the markets of the United States. The products are being bought subject to delivery in Germany within a few days after the war ends, "on order." With the exception of purchases of wheat, all products are being warehoused in close proximity to Atlantic ports, in which scores of interned German merchantmen are swinging at anchor. In farm machinery circles there is an unauthoritative report that an order of small tractor engines, built for farm work and now being received by the board at Newport News and is now in the hold of the boat awaiting transmission. Purchases have been carried on with utmost secrecy by agents of the imperial government. Negotiations have been carried on under various guises. Much of the products has been bought on margin, which would involve big banking loans.

A dispatch of yesterday from Berlin says: The request received here from the United States for the recall of Capt. Franz von Papen and Capt. Karl Boy-Ed, military and naval attaches respectively of the German embassy at Washington, will undoubtedly be complied with in accordance with diplomatic usage, it is stated. However, Germany probably will ask first to be informed of the grounds on which the United States government bases the undesirable recall of the attaches. News of the request for the recall has not yet been published by the German press.

Count Okuma, the Japanese premier, addressing the diet yesterday, dwelt on the universal spirit of loyalty and patriotism manifested by the Japanese people at the coronation of Emperor Yoshihito as a basis for further strengthening the solidarity and prosperity of the imperial house and the empire. He emphasized the statement that the prospect for naval repelment which was ratified by the council of defense was the first necessity in the present situation of the world. "Not a day can be lost in carrying out the plan," he declared.

A dispatch to the London Daily Telegraph from Malta says the British steamer Umenta has been sunk in the Mediterranean. The dispatch adds that forty-nine survivors of the disaster were landed, but that five officers of the vessel and forty-seven passengers are missing. The Umenta was a steamer of 3,325 tons net. The last report of her was when she passed Perim November 28 bound north.

Czar Nicholas has issued a rescript postponing indefinitely the opening of the duma and the council of the empire. "This action is taken on the ground that the budget committees of those bodies have not yet completed preparation of the budget. Recent reports said the duma would reassemble on December 8. That body was prorogued on September 10.

The New York Herald says Victoriano Huerta is still plotting with German agents to start a revolution against the de facto government of Mexico. Those agents have contracted to supply him with munitions to make war on Carranza, is a statement it attributes to an American who has arrived in New York from the border.

Another meeting of the general war council of the entente allies was held in Paris yesterday. The meeting was attended by representatives of France, Great Britain, Russia, Italy, Belgium and Serbia, and was presided over by General Joffre, the French commander-in-chief.

The Cologne Gazette's correspondent at Jaffa, writing under date of November 30, reports the opening of a railway from Jerusalem to Beersheba, fifty miles in length. A military highway also was opened connecting Beersheba with Haifa, fifty miles southwest.

According to a German radiogram, the French submarine Fresnel was destroyed on December 5 by an Austrian warship, says a communication issued yesterday at the marine ministry in Paris. Two officers and twenty-six men were captured.

Unusual precautions will be taken to protect President Wilson when he goes to Columbus, O., next Friday. Tension in the international situation is one cause and a direct suggestion from government authorities at Columbus is another.

Under-Lieutenant Georges Victor Hugo, grandson of the famous French novelist, has been cited in the order of the day and decorated with the cross of war for bravery under fire in the allied offensive in September.

The United States cruiser Des Moines has arrived at Cana in the island of Crete with 344 troops who were expelled from Syria. This number is made up of 266 French, sixty-nine Russians and nine Greeks.

The Zurich Zeitung publishes a dispatch from Berlin saying the official birth statistics in twenty-four of the principal towns in Germany, from April to July, inclusive, show a decrease of twenty per cent.

A dispatch to the London Daily Express from Geneva says three Bulgarian students have been executed at Sofia for connection with a plot against the life of King Ferdinand.

The Roumanian government has ordered the mobilization of all naturalized foreigners and foreigners under the protection of the Roumanian laws up to forty years old.

Another horse, named Leander, the property of one Litchwald, a German horse dealer, ran in the same race, but broke his leg in running, and, being destroyed, was then discovered to be a four-year-old, which circumstance caused suspicion to be directed to the winner, Running Rein, whose owner, Mr. A. ## CANADIAN HORSES IN THE WAR.

Statistics furnished by the Remounts and Veterinary Branch of the Militia Department show that so far only 10 per cent. of the Canadian horses at the front have succumbed, and most of these were killed in battle. There are now approximately 15,000 horses with the Canadian army corps in France, each infantry division having 6,250 horses.

The horses of a division are taken care of by twelve veterinary officers and one mobile veterinary section of twenty-seven men.

In the "Bloodstock Breeders' Review," J. M. Walmsley has an interesting article entitled "Foals and their Treatment," in which he says the best time to judge a foal is one or two days after its birth. "A week or a fortnight later," he adds, "one can judge with more safety as to its turning out well, but often its shape is then more difficult to gauge." Many faults are outgrown and foals that have, perhaps, hardly had sufficient room in their dams, and often appear to have deformed hocks when born, get quite right later on. Other defects, however, are never eradicated. Mr. Walmisley says that though it is a controversial point, it is surely essential that breeders should give a foal a fair start, by breeding only from mares and
